Capitalist Realism

Mark Fisher

Using examples from politics, film, fiction, work and education, Mark Fisher argues that capitalist realism colours all areas of contemporary experience, is anything but realistic and asks how capitalism and its inconsistencies can be challenged. It is a sharp analysis of the post-ideological malaise that suggests that the economics and politics of free market neo-liberalism are givens rather than constructions.

'A provocative and necessary read for anyone wanting to talk seriously about the politics of education today.' Times Higher Educational Supplement

Zero Books; 2009-11-27; Political Ideologies (General)/Popular Culture/Political; Pb-9781846943171, $14.95/£7.99, 92pp, 5.5x8.5inches / 216x140mm, Ebk-9781780997346, $11.99/£5.99.

Kill All Normies

Angela Nagle

How internet subcultures are conquering the mainstream, from 4chan and Tumblr to Trump and the alt-right.

'This short head-butt of a book taught me more about recent political events in a single rich evening of reading than I've learned in this entire last and very unpleasant year of obsessively monitoring cable TV, and confirmed for me something I've been feeling for a while now, namely that social media is a toxin we are gleefully and cluelessly injecting into ourselves, even as we ask, 'Why are we getting so mean and stupid?' George Saunders, winner of the 2017 Man Booker Prize

Zero Books; 2017-06-30; Social Networking/Popular Culture/Cultural & Social; Pb-9781785355431, $16.95/£9.99, 136pp, 8.5x5.5inches / 216x140mm, Ebk-9781785355448, $12.99/£7.99.

In the Dust of This Planet

Eugene Thacker

Supernatural horror defined as the thought of the unthinkable. In this bestselling book, Eugene Thacker suggests that we look to the genre of horror as offering a way of thinking about the unthinkable world.

'Thacker's discourse on the intersection of horror and philosophy is utterly original and utterly captivating...treating us to a delightful stroll down a midway of accursed attractions that alone are worth the ticket of this volume.' Thomas Ligotti, author of The Conspiracy Against the Human Race

Zero Books; 2011-08-26; Criticism/Gothic & Romance; Pb-9781846946769, $19.95/£11.99, 184pp, 5.5x8.5inches / 216x140mm, Ebk-9781780990101, $14.99/£8.99.

Ghosts of My Life

Fisher searches for the traces of these lost futures in the work of David Peace, John Le Carré, Christopher Nolan, Joy Division, Burial and many others.

'Mark Fisher is our most penetrating explorer of the connections between pop culture, politics, and personal life under the affective regime of digital capitalism.' Simon Reynolds, author of Retromania
